

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. This follows censorship by this same chain of part of a "60 Minutes" broadcast.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Censorship and political favoritism are reasons that this conglomerate does not deserve the use of our airways.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
